Call for Papers: ‘Social and Solidarity Economy – challenges and perspectives for sustainable development’, special issue of Quality of Life Journal, Volume 1, 2020

Deadline: 30 November 2020

Guest editors: Claudia Petrescu (The Research Institute for Quality of Life, Bucharest), Mihaela Lambru (University of Bucharest)

Quality of Life Journal (www.revistacalitateavietii.ro) seeks articles for a special issue on social and solidarity economy, to be published in February 2020. The main purpose of this special issue is to approach and discuss about social and solidarity economy in terms of opportunities and constraints for development.

This special issue edition on social and solidarity economy aims at gathering research papers or critical theoretical analysis on topics as: social economy and sustainable development goals, practices of different social economy organizations, social economy and social innovation, social economy and local development, social impact evaluation of social economy initiatives, social economy eco-system etc.

We invite researchers to submit original papers on their early stage, ongoing or completed studies that are focused on social and solidarity economy topics.

The editors kindly request authors to send papers (4,000 – 8,000 words in length), except references, together with an abstract of no more than 200 words, to the following address: redactia@revistacalitateavietii.ro until November 30, 2019. All the papers will be evaluated through the double blind peer review process following the journal's standard procedures. Prior to submission, please check author's guidelines at <http://www.revistacalitateavietii.ro/instructiuniEn.html>.
